Thank you for referring Frazzle. The following is a case summary.

Chief Complaint: seizure

History: had another seizure; here for an mri

Abnormal Neurologic Exam Findings: normal

Other Physical Exam Abnormalities: normal

Neuroanatomic Diagnosis: seizures;

Pertinent Ancillary Procedures: mri of the brain - wnl;

Treatments: started on kbr

Outcome: given the normal mri and the signalment I assume this is idiopathic epilepsy; if the seizures persist will recommend csf tap, titers, etc; recheck in one month;

*Sent electronically by fax - no signature requiredAddendum: all diagnostics including multiple thyroid tests, bloodwork, mri, etc. have thus far been normal making this idiopathic epilepsy; there was no evidence of "low blood glucose", hypothyroidism, "injury" as an underlying cause; in addition the seizures are not caused by "vaccination";
